Seal Doom Of Jap Garrison On Kwajalein

Flank Attacks Launched By U. S. Troops From Newly Won Islets

MORE OF MARSHALLS TAKEN BY YANKS

By CLINTON GREEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 5.

Doom of the shattered Jap garrison on Kwajalein Island was sealed today as troops of the Army's Seventh Division launched flank attacks from newly won islets to the north.

Additional landings by the Seventh on milelong Ebeye Island and complete occupation of two other small islands between Ebeye and Kwajalein were announced last night by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz in a communique which said that troops on Kwajalein continue to make progress.

Mikado's Power Suspended
The communique followed Nimitz' first proclamation as military governor of the Marshall Islands in which he dramatically suspended the power of the Mikado for the period of American occupation.

Major Gen. Charles H. Corlett's troops, veterans of the Attu campaign, were disclosed to have stormed ashore unopposed on Ebeye Thursday, only to run into opposition a "short distance" inland from the beach.

Half the island, described by a spokesman as "one of the most important" in the Kwajalein atoll, was in American hands. Soldiers were driving forward to wipe out remaining Jap opposition, believed to consist mostly of snipers and hidden machine gun nests.

The other two islets, not identified, were captured following what Admiral Nimitz termed "neutralization," and were taken in the face of moderate opposition.

Outflank Japanese
Seizure of the two satellite islets, together with the strong beach head established on Ebeye, outflanks the Jap troops trapped in the northeast arc of Kwajalein Island.

With Jap defenders squeezed between the main body of the Seventh driving up the island and units of the division which landed to the north, complete conquest of Kwajalein was expected within a matter of hours.

"Resistance on Kwajalein Island continues," said the communique, "but progress is being made. Our casualties continue to be moderate." (A Japanese imperial communique continued on Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

Lawrence county war gardeners are already beginning to plan for the coming growing season. Seed assortments are being selected and preparations being made for an early start on gardening. There will be more need than ever this summer for raising everything possible in home garden plots and preserving the food for the following winter.

Fourth War Loan campaign is speeding along and those who have delayed adding to their war bond purchases should get into action at once. According to reports from the state today, Lawrence county is one of the leading counties in the state in bond purchases for the present campaign. But the county has not yet reached its quota and every bond purchase possible is needed.

Johnson Bronze Company Veterans To Have Banquet

Dinner Gathering Is Arranged For February 12; Program Is Arranged

On February 12 The Veterans Association of Johnson Bronze will hold their annual banquet at The Castleton hotel. This organization, founded in 1942, has shown rapid growth. It now numbers two hundred and ten members with service records extending from ten years to forty-one years. In order to attain membership it is necessary to have at least ten consecutive years of employment.

The committee in charge has arranged a very interesting program for the evening. Service pins will be awarded to all new members and to those members who have advanced from one group to another. The type of pin received indicates the number of years the holder has served. From ten to fourteen years earn a bronze pin; from fifteen to nineteen years it is silver; from twenty to twenty-four it is gold, and over twenty-five is gold with a diamond.

Veterans with more than thirty years receive, in addition to their pin, a very handsome, engraved pocket watch. In addition to the awards and the entertainment there will be an election of officers to govern the activities of the organization for the coming year. Present indications are that every member will be on hand for this gala event. The activities are slated to get underway with a banquet at 6 p. m.

Shore Artillery Use In Marshalls Big Factor

By CAPT. JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially for N. S.)

Probably the most important long-run technical development of the Kwajalein atoll landings was the unprecedented employment of shore artillery of the howitzer type from the very beginning of the operation in wiping out Japanese strong points that had survived naval and air bombardment.

This novel use of the traditional pill-box-crackers of land warfare in Uncle Sam's island-hopping campaign of the Pacific, noted in this column on Thursday, created a new tactical method, the revolutionary importance of which was instantly apparent to the student of war.

Eliminated Many Losses
In all probability it played a great part in eliminating the tremendous percentage of losses that featured the taking of Tarawa in November.

"ONE TWO PUNCH"
BIG U. S. VICTORY
By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS IN NEW GUINEA, Feb. 5.—A perfectly-executed "one-two punch" by more than 150 American Liberators and Mitchell bombers and their fighter escorts was credited officially today with destroying 80 Japanese planes in a devastating attack upon the enemy's key base at Wewak, in New Guinea.

The American raiders struck in two waves, the heavy bombers plastering the Wewak airfield with 1,000 and 2,000 pound bombs first and the twin-engine craft sweeping in later "in a carefully-timed follow-up attack."

When the Liberators hammered the Wewak and Boram airstrips with their high explosives, a number of large fires were ignited and at least 12 grounded enemy aircraft destroyed. Meanwhile, their escorts, mainly fighters, engaged a force of 40 Japanese interceptors in combat, shooting down eight of the enemy planes.

Fort Pitt Area Bond Sales Spurt

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—(INS)—For the third day in a row the Fort Pitt area, consisting of 19 Western Pennsylvania counties, more than doubled its treasury-assigned daily quota for the purchase of bonds during the Fourth War Loan campaign.

Yesterday's total was $27,700,000 as against a $13,021,000 assignment, making the grand total $170,800,000—or 52 per cent of the total assignment. Series E bonds—the "people's bond"—however, continued to lag in sales, with only $2,000,000 reported against a daily quota of $3,200,000.

French Battleship At Toulon Reported Blasted By Raiders

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The crack 26,500-ton French battleship Dunkerque, which survived two blastings at the hands of British warships and planes as well as the reported sinking of the fleet in 1942, was reported blazing furiously today as a result of yesterday's air raid on Toulon.

The Nazi-operated Vichy radio broadcast a statement by French Propaganda Minister Philippe Henriot asserting that the Allied sky armadas which raided the sprawling naval base at Toulon left the big battleship wreathed in smoke.

The Dunkerque, one of the best of the French warships, was shelled and set on fire off Mers El Kébir July 3, 1940, and three days later was torpedoed by British naval planes during the combined British-Fighting French invasion attempt at Oran.

Early in 1942 it was taken to Toulon for refitting and on November 27 of that year was flooded and otherwise damaged during the scuttling of the French fleet in that port.

ENCIRCLED GERMANS BATTLE DESPERATELY

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Feb. 5.—Two huge German armies faced disaster today as mighty Russian forces waged a battle of annihilation against 125,000 to 150,000 Nazi troops trapped in the Ukraine and squeezed another enemy force of 250,000 troops in a narrowing pocket below Leningrad.

More than 2,800 enemy soldiers were wiped out yesterday attempting to break through the Soviet ring surrounding some ten German divisions in the Zvenigrodka-Sipola area of the middle Dnieper, the Soviet high command announced.

Blast 73 Transport Planes
Seventy-three huge Nazi transport planes attempting to supply or evacuate the trapped army were blasted from the skies, a Soviet communique revealed. Thirty two German tanks also were smashed when the Germans, striking back desperately in an attempt to avert a second Stalingrad, launched powerful tank-paced counter-assaults against the Russian steel ring.

In the north, the Red Army cleared the Nazis from an 80-mile stretch of the Finnish gulf coast, including five miles of Estonian coast, and wiped out more than 1,200 German troops in a smashing drive southward in the Lake Peipus region toward Pskov which threatens to close a second huge trap behind a quarter-million enemy troops.

Besides liberating the Gulf of Finland coast from Leningrad to the mouth of the Narva river five miles inside Estonia, the Russians freed the entire 100-mile stretch of railroad between Leningrad and Novgorod on Lake Ilmen.

"Great Winter Battle"
The German DNB agency declared a "great winter battle" now in full swing from the Gulf of Finland to the Black Sea, and the German high command announced furious Russian offensive assaults were hurled at the Nazis along the whole 1,800-mile front.

Admiral Nimitz Takes Control Of Marshall Islands

Issues Proclamation Suspending Mikado's Power And Giv- ing Natives Instructions

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The power of the Mikado over the Marshall Islands was suspended today for duration of American occupancy as Admiral Chester W. Nimitz issued his first proclamation as military governor of the Jap-mandated mid-Pacific stronghold.

Admiral Nimitz, in an announcement addressed to "the people of the Marshall Islands," said that the need for the United States to prosecute the war against Japan makes it necessary for our armed forces to occupy the island chain.

He added, however, that this nation has no quarrel with the natives and promised them their property rights will be respected.

"It is the policy of the United States forces not to make war upon the civilian inhabitants of these islands," said the announcement, "but to permit them to continue their normal lives and occupations in a peaceable manner as far as war's necessities and their own behavior permit."

So long as you remain peaceable and comply with orders of United States forces of occupation, you will be subjected to no greater interference than is made necessary by war conditions.

Admiral Nimitz also promised the natives that existing laws and customs will remain in effect "except to the extent that it is necessary to change them," but warned inhabitants that they must promptly obey all orders and must commit no acts hostile to United States forces or aid the Japanese.

Counter-Attacks In Rome Area Increase—Large Battle May Develop

YANKS THREATEN CASSINO CAPTURE

By JAMES L. KILGALLIN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALGIERS, Feb. 5.—British troops south of Rome hurled back repeated and determined Nazi assaults in the second day of an enemy counter-offensive to drive the Allied invaders back into the sea. Allied headquarters announced today amid indications that another "bloody Salerno" may be in the making.

Seventy miles to the south, bitter fighting raged unabated at the outskirts of Cassino as American troops threatened imminent capture of the vital "Gustav line" stronghold. Just to the north other American troops pushed farther west through the mountains in a campaign to cut off the German base.

Nazi Attacks Repulsed
At the extreme northern end of the Fifth Army front, Nazi counter-attacks were repulsed. Allied headquarters announced. A communique added that Eighth Army patrols were active and a number of prisoners were taken on all fronts.

In the Gariella sector of the Fifth Army front, British troops seized Monte Camino, three miles north of Cassino.

In the Anzio-Nettuno sector, front dispatches quoted the grim-fighting Yanks and Tommies as decimating the Nazi attacks to be "worse than Salerno." Homer Bigart, writing for the Combined U. S. Press, said that in 13 days the Germans may have assembled enough strength to assume the offensive.

Heaviest counter-attacks of the day were hurled against British positions north of the village of Colico, five miles south of Campoleone and about 20 miles from Rome. The Nazi troops spearheaded by tanks of the crack 26th panzer division suffered heavy losses and (Continued on Page Two)

Toulon Pounded In Bombing Raid

New Blows Are Struck At Southern Coast Of France By Allied Fliers

ALGIERS, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Allied four-motored bombers, sweeping across the Mediterranean for new blows at the southern coast of France, were reported today to have pounded the Nazi naval base at Toulon in a heavy daylight assault yesterday.

"The Vichy radio, admitting that the assault was the heaviest to date, said American Fortresses struck at the important port. Two waves of the Yank craft swept in to plaster their targets."

"Damage heavier than that caused in the November '43 assault was inflicted on the Nazi naval base, according to the German-dominated broadcast. The Vichy radio also added that the number of victims could not be ascertained immediately since rescue parties were digging through the wreckage for some time following the assault."

Police Say Man Slays Wife And Commits Suicide

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Police today reported the deaths of Edward Hagan, 37, and his 33-year-old estranged wife, Beatrice, as murder and suicide.

Mrs. Hagan had been living with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Startzel, in North Philadelphia since her estrangement from her husband last March. The two women and Mrs. Hagan's sister, Mrs. Helen Sweeten, were sitting in the kitchen of their home when Hagan reportedly entered from a rear door.

Muttering "let's go," he pulled a .38-caliber pistol from his pocket and shot his wife. Mrs. Startzel told police. He then fired a bullet through his right temple, ending his life, she said.

The couple had a 15-year-old son, Edward Jr.

The older Hagan was placed on 18-months probation last November after he allegedly accosted his wife on a street and threatened to kill her unless she signed over insurance papers to him.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O.) introduced a bill in the senate today calling for an appropriation of 950 million dollars in subsidy payments to keep retail food prices down.

The proposal was in the form of an amendment to the Commodity Credit Corporation bill and came as the senate prepared for a showdown fight on the subsidy issue next week.

Plea For Count Ciano's Life Was Made By Wife

Report Mussolini's Daughter Made Personal Plea To Father To Spare Ciano

By REYNOLDS PACKARD
Representing the Combined U. S. Press
(Distributed by U. S. S.)

WITH THE ALLIED FORCES SOUTH OF ROME, Feb. 4.—(Delayed)—Prince Stefano Borghese, a direct descendant of the historic Borghese family, now acting as mayor of Anzio in cooperation with AMG authorities, told me today in an exclusive interview how Edda Mussolini pleaded unsuccessfully with her father to save the life of her husband, Count Galeazzo Ciano. He also told me some things about Rome, which he visited less than three weeks ago.

Prince Borghese said Edda was brokenhearted over her failure to prevent the execution of the count. She has since been stricken with a serious lung ailment, he declared, and is in danger of chronic tubercular complications.

"She was believed in Rome to have slipped away to Switzerland," the prince said, "in the hope the change in climate would improve her condition. She also was reported to be expecting a child next month."

"I heard in Rome that Edda had humbled herself by going to Mussolini and begging tearfully that he commute Ciano's death sentence to exile or at least life imprisonment. The Duke, however, was adamant and turned away Ciano's treachery to himself. Mussolini felt that he had made Ciano and that he could owe everything to him."

Actually, the prince continued, general opinion in Rome was that Mussolini was unable to do anything about the execution. As a power, Mussolini definitely had been displaced by Roberto Farinacci (a right-winging Fascist party leader).

"Everyone in Rome was agreed that Farinacci is the big black wolf who is wearing Mussolini's clothing," Borghese asserted. "Mussolini has become a complete religious fanatic and is seldom seen by anyone, even by his own followers. He has given up the palace in Venice where he once had an office and his Villa at Trianon, where he once lived as a vegetarian dictator. He takes early morning gallops for exercise."

SEAL DOOM OF JAP GARRISON ON KWAJALEIN

que, broadcast by radio Tokyo and recorded by the U. S. foreign broadcast intelligence service, said that Jap forces are battling "remaining" American units on Kwajalein and Rio Islands and claimed that control of the situation was "assured." The broadcast, beamed to Latin America, also claimed that up to Feb. 1, Japanese fliers and defending troops had sunk two U. S. destroyers, a cruiser and destroyer and shot down 33 planes.

No Naval Losses

(Spokesmen for Admiral Nimitz said that up to that date America's huge armada had suffered no losses, while correspondents reported that the invasion was still unopposed by either Jap planes or fleet units.)

The Seventh was supported in its Kwajalein drive by reinforcements and mechanized equipment, including tanks, landed in force following the initial invasion.

Troops received additional cover from the barrage laid down by the huge American war fleet which was moved into 65-square mile Kwajalein lagoon on order of Rear Admiral Richmond K. Turner, commander of amphibious operations.

Carrier and land-based bombers and artillery, hauled onto islets adjacent to Kwajalein, added their weight of high explosives to the almost incessant bombardment that has reduced Jap positions to rubble.

There was no estimate given as to the number of enemy casualties on 80-mile long Kwajalein atoll beyond the island figures, which placed Jap dead at 1250 out of a garrison of 2,000 at a cost of 27 soldiers killed, 190 wounded and nine missing.

Enemy losses were expected to mount, however, as soldiers of the Seventh continue mopping up on Kwajalein and attacks on new Jap strongholds at the atoll.

The new landings were accompanied by a naval and aerial bombardment of two more islets north of Kwajalein—Lol and Gugewe—which were expected to be the next objectives of landing parties.

MOPPING UP ON KWAJALEIN ATOLL BEING SPEEDED

positions on that mid-Pacific sand spit.

Meanwhile, marine forces under Maj. Gen. Harry Schmidt continued their winning ways by taking over seven more small islands in the northern section of the atoll against comparatively light opposition. These are the same troops who previously had captured Roi and Namur Islands from the Japs.

Methodically Mop Up
Corlett's Attu veterans, using flamethrowers, grenades, rifles, TNT, and machine guns methodically burned and blasted the Japs from their prepared pillboxes in the administrative and supply centers of their Marshall Islands bases on both Kwajalein Islands.

Cpls. Marc J. Logie, Los Gatos, Calif., and Curtis D. O'Sullivan, Napa, Calif., led the longest battle on Kwajalein Atoll.

American losses on Kwajalein were uncommonly light as the Japs were dazed and scattered by the overwhelming bombardment of superior navy, air and artillery and failed to make any serious counterattacks during the day.

Instead, they lay in their foxholes, awaiting the advancing American forces, often letting them pass to attack the troops bringing up the rear, thereby forcing companies advancing to the front to proceed slowly and cautiously.

Hundreds Of Japs Killed

Col. O'Sullivan's troops had the toughest time with this problem of blowing the Japs from their holes on Kwajalein. About 250 dead Japs were found in one group in interconnected blockhouses.

By nightfall, many hundreds of dead Japs lay on sandy Kwajalein alone with many more littering the concrete and steel positions prepared during the 23 years of Jap occupancy.

Many of the isle's defenders were lying dead in the doors of their pillboxes from which they had scurried when driven outside by bursting grenades tossed by "strike pitching" Yank soldiers. American riflemen stood by and knocked off those Nips who attempted to escape.

O'Sullivan was forced to revise his strategy to meet the "pillbox problem," and solved it by sending a detachment around the pillbox villages to begin mopping operations further down the isle. This left a pocket in the Jap lines in which brisk fighting continued until nightfall.

At darkness, the Japs left their holes, trying to disrupt the American attack by infiltrating our lines with lone snipers and small groups of men. In the morning, then, the Americans were awakened by Jap sniper bullets singing over their heads.

The tedious task of ferreting out the snipers has occupied every morning so far on the island, and the job has been made tougher by the danger of shooting our own troops with our general fire. A tribute to the Seventh Division's discipline is the fact that almost no casualties have resulted from their own fire.

SHORE ARTILLERY USE IN MARSHALLS ARE BIG FACTOR

The American amphibious forces hit the beaches, enough Nipponese troops survived to render the battle for the island difficult and costly. That highlighted the limitations of naval artillery and air bombing, limitations that were well recognized in the technical lore of war.

Naval guns are necessarily high-velocity pieces. Their projectiles travel in almost a straight line from the cannon's mouth to the target. That means that they can blast the walls of an enemy fortification that projects above the surface of the earth. But they cannot lob shells into the air to fall from the skies on the enemy's heads, to destroy dugouts deep in the bowels of the earth.

To overcome this limitation was the job of the amphibious forces. But the air backs penetrating power because of its low velocity. Only a direct hit will destroy a well constructed enemy pill-box. Furthermore, any barrage, land, air or naval, must necessarily miss a few enemy strong points. When the enemy infantry advances, these spring into action.

Plan Used
To meet this situation in war ashore the howitzer was developed and various types of artillery were assigned as close accompanying arms of the infantry. The bigger howitzers dropped shells from the skies that penetrated and wrecked dugouts far below the ground's surface. The smaller howitzers and guns moved up with almost the first wave of the infantry, opening fire at ranges too close for missing on pill-boxes and machine guns missed by the barrage.

This tactical scheme seems to have been the one employed in the Kwajalein operations, for the first time in amphibious war. Perhaps that was why the Kwajalein atoll, with its myriad of small islets within sight of each other, was chosen for attack. The Japanese could not defend them all. Reports state that the marines first landed on Mellu and Boggerlapp, then spread to other tiny spots of land within easy range of their objectives, the strongly fortified Roi and Namur. It is easy to see how accompanying guns and howitzers in these close-up positions could do an exact and quick job of cleaning up Japanese strong points.

up the total, individual purchases of savings bonds is little more than 50 per cent of the quota established for the drive. We cannot falter now. The greatest success in these drives is achieved through the sale of bonds to individual investors, to draw funds from savings deposits, from idle currency and current earnings, where the greatest danger of inflation lies. To guard against inflation is a selfish reason for everyone to buy bonds, but it is a sound one. For it protects the individual's stake in the future.

But there is another reason. The best answer to Nazi and Jap brutality is a determined America, that can demonstrate without question its unity and determination to wipe out every vestige of their militaristic and savage spirit. An overwhelming success in the Fourth War Loan, and particularly by the millions of individual purchasers, will furnish that answer.

Deaths of the Day

Lutz Funeral

Funeral services for Glenn George Lutz, of 835 Beckford street, were conducted from the Howard L. Reynolds funeral home, 909 Adams street, Friday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. C. R. Thayer was in charge.

Palbearers were: W. H. McNickle, Berne Fletcher, Arthur Dennis, W. H. Tressler, Stanley Dugan and Loran Gray.

Interment was in the family plot at Graceland cemetery.

Mrs. Ethel Marie Wilson Kendall
Mrs. Ethel Marie Wilson Kendall, aged 58 years, of R. D. 3, widow of Findley Kendall, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Mally, 102 West Leisure avenue, Friday evening at 11:30 o'clock, after a week's illness. She had been ailing for several years.

Mrs. Kendall was born in Wilmington township, Lawrence county, May 3, 1885, daughter of William C. and Agnes Martin Wilson. She previously lived in the East Brook-Volant district and also in the Wilmington township, where she resided at the time of her death. Mrs. Kendall had been married since December 27, 1905, to Findley, who preceded her in death, in June 1929. Also preceding her in death was a sister, Mrs. Lewis McConaghy, this city, who died November 1943, and a grandson, Harry Mally, who died in August.

The deceased was a member of the East Brook United Presbyterian church.

Children surviving are: Mrs. Harry Mally, this city; Raymond Kendall, this city; Mrs. Loyal Smith, Volant; Lieut. Elizabeth Kendall, American Nurses Corps, George Kendall, this city; Howard Kendall, Chicago, Ill.; Eugene Kendall, New Wilmington, Pa.; James Knight, this city; Walter Kendall, this city; Mont McConnell, Mercer; Virginia Kendall, at home; and Thelma Kendall, at home. She leaves a brother, Samuel B. Wilson, this city; a sister, Mrs. Eugene Sampson, Volant; and 20 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m., from the Campbell's North Hill funeral home, Moody avenue at Delaware, and interment will follow in Graceland cemetery. The body has been removed to the funeral home, where the family will meet friends, this evening 7 to 9 o'clock, and Sunday, 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Santangelo Funeral Time

High mass of requiem for Rose DeCarlo Santangelo, R. D. 7, will be offered Tuesday morning at nine o'clock in St. Vitus church. Interment will be in St. Vitus cemetery.

'DOUBLE RAID' ON WEWAK COST JAPS 80 MORE PLANES

new and their accompanying fighters caught the enemy fighter planes during refueling operations. The Japs and B-29 bombers were covered with nearly 200 tons of bombs by the low-flying Mitchells and their fighters.

"Approximately 60 Jap planes were then destroyed and large fuel fires started, added the communiqué. "Damage to installations was general."

As one returning Liberator pilot described the action, the Americans caught the enemy on the Japs' own ballpark and we won the game. For the Japs it was no hits, no runs and a helluva lot of errors."

The Mitchells came in at almost ground level, clearing a nearby ridge by only 10 feet. The high ground protected the twin-engined fighters from enemy anti-aircraft fire until the last minute before the attack.

Then the pilots jammed the sticks forward and hurtled in crackling power dives at the dromes, fanning out to cover the runways, revetments, dispersal area and ack-ack positions.

Well-Timed Raid

At Daguer, one American flier said, the enemy planes were lined up on both sides of the runway, parked wingtip to wingtip. "It looked like the ships lined on the primary training field back home," he added.

So well-timed was the raid that, according to the lead of the last Mitchell formation, the twin-engined planes left the target still flying in perfect formation.

"Our own damage and casualties were light," added the communiqué. "Other allied air patrols destroyed two grounded enemy planes during a sweep from Bokadim to Alexi-Shafen, and left 6,000-ton enemy freighter aflame and sinking west of Cape Mantalem in the New Ireland sector."

Gasmata on the southern coast of New Britain was raided by escorted medium bombers which hammered supply and bivouac areas with 25 tons of bombs.

Both on Bougainville and in the Solomons and in northeastern New Guinea allied ground troops made progress. The Americans on Bougainville penetrated to the north coast at Numa Numa to a point 24 miles from their original beachhead at Empress Augusta Bay. And Australian jungle fighters in the Ramu valley of New Guinea crossed the divide at the headwaters of the Fapri river, seized Mataloi and reached Menau.

GERMAN ATTACKS SOUTH OF ROME ARE HURLED BACK

British troops seized 90 German prisoners.

Capture 1,500 Nazis

Fifteen hundred Nazi soldiers have been taken captive since the Anzio landing two weeks ago today, bringing the total number of prisoners taken in the Italian campaign to more than 19,000. Allied headquarters announced.

Despite the ferocity of the Nazi attacks south of Rome, a military commentator at Algiers said the Germans apparently are probing for a weak spot in Allied positions in preparation for launching a "real" offensive against the beachhead.

Fighting side by side for the first time since storming ashore at Anzio, American and British troops beat down the first four Nazi attacks, launched Thursday, in bitter fighting over rolling farmland similar to the terrain over which the "great battles" of World War I were fought.

Supported by masses of tanks, including giant 60-ton "Tigers," and reportedly directed by the Wilf Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, the Nazi counter-thrusts gave the Nazis control of the railroad southeast of the Cassino keypoint base, front dispatches said.

Hundreds Of Germans Killed

But the Germans paid a heavy toll for their limited gains. Dispatches quoted American soldiers as reporting that "we killed hundreds of Germans" and told how German attackers in one sector were "slashed to pieces in bloody, hand-to-hand fighting."

To the south, American troops threatened imminent capture of Cassino, keypoint of the Nazi "Gotha line." Bitter house-to-house and hand-to-hand battles are raging in the outlying streets of the shell-ripped stronghold straddling the Via Cassina road to Rome.

Yank troops are strongly entrenched in pillboxes and bunkers built in basements and behind the walls of houses in Cassino's outskirts. INS War Correspondent Graham Hovey revealed in a dispatch from the bloody battleground.

Front dispatches said the battle is swaying to and fro as the Yanks tanks and infantry attack again and again while the Nazis meet the assaults with counter-blows.

GIANT ALLIED AIR OFFENSIVE IS CONTINUED

Great numbers of speedy fighters, including RCAF Spitfires, weaved in and out of the bomber formations.

Report Paris Bomber

Soon after the formations disappeared, the Nazi-dominated Paris radio asserted that the former French capital had been blasted in a fresh daylight onslaught, but there was no immediate confirmation of this claim.

Constant observers said two strong waves of American and British heavy and medium bombers swept across the English Channel toward the northern French coast, the site of reported "mystery defenses."

The departure from Britain came after the fourth consecutive night attack by speedy RAF Mosquito bombers on unidentified targets in western Germany.

Today's assault on the French airdromes marked the eighth attack against German targets in nine drawals in three key sectors—out side the great fortress city of Vitebsk on the main route westward from Smolensk; west of Novosokolniki on the Moscow-Riga railroad to Latvia; and between the Pripiet and Berezina rivers on the route to Pinsk and Warsaw.

The Nazi propaganda agency declared "the second battle for Vitebsk has begun" and quoted a Nazi military commentator as declaring that "Vitebsk no longer can be regarded as the cornerstone of the German front."

Bitter fighting of the day raged in the middle Dnieper sector of the Ukraine where ten Nazi divisions are trapped in a rectangular strip averaging 40 miles in depth and covering less than 1,000 square miles.

The encircled Nazis refused all Soviet demands to surrender. One front dispatch said the Nazis are fighting "like rats in a trap, their infantry, tanks and self-propelled guns hurling themselves against the Soviet band of steel."

State Of Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today was entered as a Republican candidate for president in the Illinois presidential preference primary as nominating petitions in his behalf were filed with Secretary of State E. J. Hughes office.

The petitions entering the military leader in the Republican contest were filed by W. F. McLaughlin, of Glenview, Ill., who characterized the filing as a "pure draft-MacArthur" movement. He has not communicated with MacArthur, he said, as to filing of the petitions.

The petitions, McLaughlin said, bear about 5,000 signatures secured in 93 of the state's 102 counties. McLaughlin is vice president of the General MacArthur for President Clubs.

HICKORY HGTS. Mr. and Mrs. George Pautus and daughter, Edna, of Hickory Heights, San Bernardino, of Ellwood City, Miss Nora Dodge and Miss Agnes Main, of New Castle, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Booher and children, of Rich Hill, were Sunday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Boeher of Volant.

The executive committee of Hickory Heights P. T. A. will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Homer Cameron, of the Harlanburg road.

Mrs. Harry Newman, of State road, entertained the missionary society of Neshannock U. P. church on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWayne Glenn and family of Franklin were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Len Hanna, of State road.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bludorn announce the arrival of a son, Ronald Wayne, on January 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Braimer and family of the East Brook road, were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. E. C. Benner of Fredonia.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PRECOCIOUS CHILD NEEDS DISCIPLINE

The very bright child is more in need of discipline, especially in the early years, than the child of average mentality. Usually he gets less of it.

In the first place, he is more able to wheedle his parents and other adults and make them gratify his wishes, and more able to escape for-biddings and requirements.

His parents being proud of his precocity and flattered at the reflected glory from his brilliance are inclined to be more interested in his mental exploits than in his achievements as a home and community citizen and playmate. The adoring relatives and neighbors marvel at how smart this youngster is, at his utterances and achievements, which may surpass that of most children several years older.

Training Precocious Child

It is significant that most parents of a very bright young child prefer a school for him where he will have more freedom than the average school and will not have to do things he does not care to do. It has always seemed to me this type of school has served the wrong type of child as a rule.

Many mothers write proudly to tell me of a precocious youngster, reciting his mental exploits some of which may be amazing. Always I reply to these mothers that while they will want to help the child develop his exceptional talents, their biggest problem will be to educate him in due humility, self-reliance and responsibility, regard for the rights of others and ability to get on well with others of his age.

However, one sensible mother who writes of a child two and a half years old who can recite "yards" of verse, knows everyone by name he has ever met, recognizes cars of persons he has met only two or three times, has a large vocabulary, can pronounce any word no matter how long, distinctly says "thank you," "excuse me," and "please" without prompting, also indicates that this child is not being spoiled.

Advice to Mother

She is trying to protect him from priggishness. He is restrained, even spanked wisely at times, and is learning self-reliance. Since the age of 20 months he has been hanging up his cap and coat on a low nail suited to this purpose. He feeds himself and eats what he should. He has held his own glass of milk or water since the age of a year and held his own bottle at four months.

In my reply to this mother, who thoughtfully enclosed a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it—some mothers expect me to buy a stamp for the privilege of trying to help them—I urged her to be strict concerning this child's routines and a few essential forbiddings. She should go on reading to him, encourage him at doing things with his hands, and as soon as he is able, train him to help her even assigning him a few small jobs he can't escape before he is five or six. She should set the stage for him to play with other children of his age, settling his own quarrels and fighting his own battles.

Solving Parent Problem

Q. I would like to start a nursery school. The other children would be good playmates for my four-year-old girl and I could provide care of young children whose mothers work. I am a graduate nurse.

A. Your purpose is fine and you might do a good service with an informal play school for half a dozen children. But unless you have had special training in nursery school procedure, I should strongly advise you against undertaking to direct a nursery school. You should write to your state Department of Education or to the Office of Education, Washington, D. C., for literature on the standards of a good nursery school and its director.

Q. Our two-year-old son is much interested in books with pictures and calls the different objects by their names correctly but insists on tearing out pages.

A. A sharp slap on his hand might be necessary, but it hardly will if you will, quietly and gently restrain his hands, cuddling him occasionally as he sits on your lap or near you. Select a lovely book whose pictures illustrate nursery rhymes, or brief stories, he will like. If he fails to conform or loses interest, close the book and put it away to bring it back later. Never leave him with the book until it is safe with him alone.

Q. Why do parents scold and nag at their children so much?

A. Because they have not, as a rule, acquired effective control of them. Some have not achieved this control because so-called experts have stolen away all the tools of control but talk.

FELLOWSHIP OF STRUGGLE

After the struggle ceases. After the battle ends. A few retire to a bivouac fire. Living it over as friends.

Friends of the field and hillside. Friends of the sea and sky. Who have battle shared with all who dared.

For a righteous cause to die. And down through the years thereafter.

They will laughter and song repeat. And old ties renew, as good friends do.

Whenever they chance to meet. When done is the need for dying. And stilled is the world's applause, 'Til the last has gone they will carry on.

The bonds of a common cause.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

An Englishman, over here on a war mission, was telling me how much he likes this country and what fine people we are.

"I hope you don't mind one little criticism," he said. "I'm trying to make it constructive. Maybe you can tell your readers about it. Maybe they'll see it my way."

"Go ahead," I told him. "We Americans don't mind criticism. We are used to it."

"Well," he said, and he hesitated a bit. "It's too bad you people brag so much."

I asked him to give me some concrete example, and he told me.

We brag about our wealth, he said. We brag about our bravery, about the strength of our men and the beauty of our women.

We brag about how we are going to lick Hitler and Tojo, and to hear you talk you'd think that we are the only ones who are doing anything about the war.

"We English are different in that respect," he said. "We do things first and talk very little about it afterwards."

"And look at the Russians. They never tell you beforehand what their plans are. Only when a victory is won, do they issue brief bulletins and then only facts."

I felt a bit sore at the Englishman for being so frank. But then I looked at the papers and magazines and listened to the radio and to what people said.

"And by jingo, my English friend was right!"

We do boast of our mouths something awful. Every little advance is a smashing victory. Every boy who is doing just what he went over to do is a great hero. Every little destroyer we sink is a warship.

I think it's that bragging of ours that is making us complacent. It's these glowing superlatives that make us think the war is about over, when it has just begun.

It's bragging, exaggerating, boasting, throwing our chests out that is delaying victory and will cause so many heartaches and disappointments.

We all—or at least most of us—have good manners in our personal lives. We don't tell people how much our clothes cost and our furniture and jewelry. We don't boast about our cooking, our prowess at golf, at bridge, at business.

We prove that we are by performance and by deeds.

Modesty is a characteristic of the great and only weaklings have to brag.

We aren't weaklings. We are strong and brave and big. But why rub it in?

Let's keep our eyes open and our mouths shut!

STRANGE—OR IS IT?

Fighting men on the nation's scattered war fronts have been given a peculiar assignment by the Commanders—news dispatches indicate.

"Write home regularly, but don't write dependently, tell the home folks the nice things, keep up their morale," the Commanders advise.

If you get a Jap bullet through your stomach, laugh it off in your letters. Don't let home folks know that you have been eaten up by mosquitoes, ants and chiggers. It will hurt their morale.

Which certainly is an example of soldierly fortitude. A man who has camped a couple of days in a water-filled foxhole and comes out filled with the germs of malaria, is a human being who wants sympathy. He feels that it would help a lot to have someone to tell his troubles to. Instead he must write "Don't worry about me. The bullets didn't make very big holes in my thigh and I'll be out of this wonderful hospital in three or four months."

And what do they get for this example of sacrifice? It isn't pleasant to contemplate, but here it is—stories of strikes and rumors of strikes. Railroad workers threaten to tie up transportation unless they get more money and they get it. Foundry workers in the Pacific northwest close vital war plants for any reason. Men and women who have sons in the battle line quit production of equipment their own boys are crying for.

Stories of these incidents do get through to the men doing the fighting. Ask any man who has come back from the battle areas what is the effect of these interruptions of the war effort. Is it any wonder that observers of soldier psychology have begun to look to the future with grim misgivings as to what the fighting men will do about all this when they come home?

Home morale? Sure it occasionally is shot in the arm. But it isn't going to get it from occasional letters from men who have suffered needlessly in the war because they were unable to obtain equipment with which to fight.

BACON

Pound for pound bacon is the most nutritious of all the meats. A slice is worth nearly 50 calories.

It supplies lots of minerals and vitamins too. When added to a lot of baked beans or other vegetables it helps to balance the diet by adding protein and fat.

Bacon seems to be a favorite for breakfast. It goes fine with a fried egg. It seems to keep up the good work for a long time.

Some foods seem to burn out pretty soon and hunger comes on quickly. Bacon seems to last longer.

Huge Demand For Convention Press Seats
New Dealers Bothered By Early Requests
White House Press Conferences Lose Interest

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—And now I hear that the rush of foreign correspondents for seats at the not too far away Democratic national convention in Chicago is embarrassing the White House. Chicago is definitely the middle west. More, it is the center of America for many Americans.

However agreed the delegates to the convention may be as to the importance of supporting President Roosevelt, the convention as a whole will have to take an American-American policy. If too many strange writers pop into the convention picture, the convention may give the appearance of being for most any part of the foreign world except the United States. Correspondents from as far away as China, Australia, the remote Latin Americas, uncertain France, South Africa, New Zealand—men and women representing all areas except the Axis—are now pushing hard for seats at Chicago.

Here is an international complication which the Republicans may turn to their own use.

While we are talking about journalistic attitudes—there are many people in Washington who believe that the president is now engaged in tapering the White House press conferences down to nothing at all. Many recent White House press conferences have been skipped for one reason or another. Even the least-knowing Washington writer wonders what this presidential withdrawal means. Surely it must be a compass that indicates conferences are over for the duration.

Woodrow Wilson, whose path Franklin Roosevelt seems to be following in a somewhat enlarged way, suspended his press conferences during the second year of World War I. He said "issues" had arisen upon which he could not speak even informally and without quotation.

Wilson's successor, Warren Harding, revived the press conferences immediately after his inauguration. President Coolidge followed Harding's lead the day he returned from the Harding funeral.

Here, Harding came to the White House. President of the United States had ever mentioned out loud the proceedings of a cabinet meeting. Harding's predecessors had thought cabinet meetings were sacred. What went on there was not the affair of the public.

To return to Warren Harding's present cabinet meetings. Before Harding it was considered shocking to ask about a cabinet meeting. If anyone had mentioned a cabinet meeting in his presence. To him, the conservative professor, such audacity would have been almost punishable.

President Harding, generally a more trusting personality than Wilson as history unfortunately has revealed, talked with cheerful freedom about the questions that had come up at his "council table."

President Wilson got no fun out of his meetings with the press. He almost never told anything of importance. He was civil and snarled academically with his visitors. He was never personal.

Supposedly silent President Coolidge so the old-timers around Washington say was so conversational about these things of no importance that he was practically gossipy. Imagine that!

The first Roosevelt—Theodore—had many a mood and tense. He alternately roared and joked with whomsoever might be near by. With much anguish it was arranged to have a press conference for him following the wildly exciting announcement that he would run for a third term against his old friend William Howard Taft. The eager correspondents were ushered into the Roosevelt conference room. There stood the colored ready to shake hands with his callers. What would the Great Man say. Every writer was tense with anticipation.

Suddenly, Colonel Roosevelt noticed his old friend, Edward B. Clark who combined writing for the Chicago Evening Post with a flair for ornithology.

Calling out, "Ed, I want to talk to you," the first Roosevelt took Clark by the hand and rushed him out of the hand-shaking line.

Hurrying him off to a far corner, began a lively conversation complete with gestures. Not about his campaign and his policies and why he had turned against Taft. But about—a new bird he had just found.

Undoubtedly, Franklin Roosevelt will reveal a nature of even more surprises than his distant relative, T. R., as World War II moves on, and the 1944 election day comes near.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON.—Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson: "The seizure of the Marshalls when completed, will shorten our lines of supply and communication to the south and southeast. Pacific and will also make it possible to deploy our forces so as to attack some of the inner defenses of enemy territory."

NEW YORK.—Lieut. Gen. Bronson Somervell: "The goal of the present paper warfare campaign is at the rate of eight million tons annually. And that is not a pound too much. The American people today are saving only six million tons. They are short one-fourth of the required amount. Seventy-five per cent of the paper we need simply cannot result in a hundred per cent efficiency, and it takes just that to win battles."

MARSHALL ISLANDS.—Rear Adm. Richmond K. Turner, in charge of amphibious operations in the Marshall Islands invasion: "Our gains are important and they haven't cost us much yet."

NEW YORK.—Archbishop Francis J. Spellman: "The first step which each one of us must take to eliminate bigotry, selfishness, harshness, injustice and contempt from the minds and hearts of others is to 'stop'—stop that they have no place in our own."

Bible Thought

Keep thy foot when thou goest to the house of God, and be more ready to hear, than to give the sacrifice of fools; for they consider not that they do evil.—Ecclesiastes 5:1.

To him that hath shall be given. The only workers who can demand and get an increase are the ones already well paid.

Says Postwar Period Here For Industry

By ART COHN

(N. C. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Industrial visionaries now theorizing on the best way to meet the postwar reconversion period may be interested to learn that it has arrived before they did.

"The postwar era is already here," says J. M. Bickel, chairman of postwar planning for Carrier Corp. of Syracuse, N. Y.

"War contract cancellations and terminations are putting factories back in the production of civilian goods daily. We are facing the problem now."

Under Bickel's leadership, representatives from 60 of the nation's leading industries have met in the past year, hopeful of insuring at least 55,000,000 jobs instead of a depression at the end of the war.

"We must have sympathetic cooperation from the federal government," he says. "It's policy will determine whether America will have free enterprise or a regimented, totalitarian industry."

Problem Difficult

The problem of reconversion is more difficult than conversion was, Bickel declares.

"Conversion was comparatively simple," he says. The pressure of self-preservation after Pearl Harbor made it mandatory. Our boys were doing the war. Our girls were doing the war. It's policy will determine whether America will have free enterprise or a regimented, totalitarian industry."

Although the government is the largest industrial plant owner in the country today, "embracing more than 25 percent of the nation's productive capacity," Bickel believes it is unthinkable that the government will use these facilities to compete with private industry.

"But," he added, "the government, by maintaining wage controls, restrictions, priorities, ceilings, et al., crucify private industry. We would welcome a forthright statement on government policy but none has been given."

Axis Propaganda Reported Admitting Germany May Lose

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The CBS short-wave listening post in New York today attributed to German Propaganda Minister Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels an admission that the Reich now faces possible defeat unless the Allied powers fall out among themselves.

In an article in his magazine, Das Reich, broadcast over the Berlin radio and heard by the CBS short-wave listening post, Goebbels acknowledged that the Allies have great material superiority over Germany and are bound together to accomplish their downfall. He added, however, that the question of what to do with the victory, if it is won, already is causing the Allied camp to split.

History knows a great number of examples for the pact that was the very often take a completely different course than was thought when they began," the propaganda minister told the home front.

Tavern Patrons Capture Bandits Trying Holdup

CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Thirty men and women held up by two masked robbers armed with a sawed off shotgun and a revolver in a tavern near Chester today turned the tables on their attackers and retrieved their belongings.

One of the robbers was knocked off his feet with a well-aimed chair and a few minutes later the pair, who were about to make off with $117, were disarmed, turned over to police and on their way to a hospital for treatment of cuts suffered in the melee.

State police identified the men as former Eastern Penitentiary convicts on parole. The pair gave their names as George Smith, 31, of Clifton Heights and Stanley Mitchell, 32, of Eddystone.

SIX AIRFIELDS IN PARIS AREA ARE BOMBED

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Royal Air Force, Dominion and Allied Medium bombers supported by fighters today attacked six airfields in the Paris area.

The targets included Chateaudun, Orleans-Bricy, Chateauroux-La Martinerie, Saint Avord, Tours and Villacoublay.

Excellent results were reported. It was believed the German air force had been launching the "scalded cat" raid on London and southeast England from these airfields.

WOULD DELAY ACTION
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Sen. James E. Murray (Democrat) of Mont., chairman of a senate military affairs subcommittee named to investigate cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts, proposed today that national service legislation be delayed until the inquiry is completed.

"These contracts are believed to have the effect of causing shortage of manpower through hoarding, and if that is eliminated it might solve many manpower problems we have," Murray said.

County Schools Make Good Record In Can Salvage

Two of the rural schools reported 100 per cent in the collection of tin cans during the past week, according to Hugh Chapin, county collection chairman. New Wilmington reported 100 per cent with a total of 3013 cans, and Sunny avenue reported a 100 per cent collection with a total of 1336 cans. The grand total for the county schools was 22,988.

For New Wilmington, Dell Brown was high with 376 cans.

Chester Independent reported 98 per cent with a total of 682, New Bedford, 77 per cent with 901, Bessemer, 55 per cent with 1739, Mount Jackson, 54 per cent with 1776, Ellipton, 26 per cent with 1025, Union, 20 per cent with 1805, Walmo, 15 per cent with 1218, Shenango 1734 and Wampum turning in its total for January, 5713. Wayne township had 31 per cent with 701 cans.

IN THE great job of crushing Germany, we are prepared to give to support Mr. Stalin to the limit, despite that to this day all we know about the Russian situation is what he chooses to tell us and no American nor English military or journalistic observers have been permitted to find out the facts for themselves. But, after the facts for over, we do not want a Russian-dominated Europe and more than we wanted a German-dominated Europe. The way to avoid that is for the British and Americans to remain firm allies in peace as in war. We admire "Uncle Joe" as a fighter and we may even like him as an individual, but as a very wise old man is fond of saying, "I wouldn't go to sleep with my finger in his mouth." Certainly, his recent decision to magically make sixteen republics out of one does not inspire trust. It leaves both the British and ourselves baffled as to its purpose and effect.

Temporary Layoffs In Auto Industry Appear Returning

DETROIT, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Temporary layoffs, the bug-a-boo of the automobile industry in peace time, today showed signs of returning to plague the war time picture.

First hint that contract cancellations amounting to two billion dollars, announced only three weeks ago by the Automotive Council for War Production, are already affecting war workers came from the Michigan unemployment compensation commission.

Approximately 400 applications a day for unemployment benefits are being received, the commission reported, a sharp increase over the negligible number received daily until three weeks ago.

The automotive council, although it had no figures available on layoffs, declared that cancellations and cutbacks were already adversely affecting worker morale in the war plants.

Officials of General Motors Chrysler Corporation, and the Ford Motor Company, however, pointed out that layoffs are types of production. War workers laid off for a period are usually placed in other jobs within their own plants as soon as these jobs are available. Also, the war manpower commission may place them in acute labor shortage areas.

HARDEST hit by temporary layoffs are smaller war plants, Robert M. Askey, chairman of the unemployment commission, declared.

A Detroit board of commerce survey recently showed that major industrial plants are also beginning to feel the after-effects of contract cutbacks.

AIRMEN LEARN TO FIGHT FIRE

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Every Wednesday afternoon a yellow training plane bursts into flames at the Naval Air station on the lake front at New Orleans.

Asbestos-clad firefighters rush into the leaping flames and pull a body from the cockpit.

Anxious citizens call to make inquiries.

The Navy public relations office explains that "there's nothing to it." The military secret?

The plane, actually only a framework with half-wings, is ignited by a special fire-crew once to train the Navy's fire-fighters to save pilots, and crews and fight aircraft fires.

The blaze is always the same one as is the sole occupant—"Dilbert the Dummy."

Every man on the fire department at the station participates at one time or another in the fire drills and tries his hand at pulling "Dilbert" from the burning plane.

There's a difference of 12 miles between the highest mountain and the greatest known depth of the sea.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

driven. That naturally would be the Russian game, but what tools we would be to aid her in playing it. Despite the almost obsequious tenderness with which some of our statesmen speak of Marshal Stalin, no informed person believes that the sort of mutual belief can be established between us and Russia as between ourselves and the British. For obvious reasons there is not and there never will be the same confidence in the Russian aims, ideas, objectives and reactions.

IN THE great job of crushing Germany, we are prepared to give to support Mr. Stalin to the limit, despite that to this day all we know about the Russian situation is what he chooses to tell us and no American nor English military or journalistic observers have been permitted to find out the facts for themselves. But, after the facts for over, we do not want a Russian-dominated Europe and more than we wanted a German-dominated Europe. The way to avoid that is for the British and Americans to remain firm allies in peace as in war. We admire "Uncle Joe" as a fighter and we may even like him as an individual, but as a very wise old man is fond of saying, "I wouldn't go to sleep with my finger in his mouth." Certainly, his recent decision to magically make sixteen republics out of one does not inspire trust. It leaves both the British and ourselves baffled as to its purpose and effect.

THERE ARE among British high executives, as among ours, some who irritate and provoke. But, sensible men will recognize the relative triviality of that and the vital importance of unshakable cooperation. Considering these things, there is wisdom in the contention that the President might serve a very great purpose if he vigorously discouraged the kind of talk among his subordinates likely to make peace-table cooperation and post-war British-American solidarity more difficult. Clearly there is no other nation with which we can achieve as complete understanding as with the British. Small things should not be permitted to stand in the way of that.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police are searching for a young man said to have broken a display glass at an East Side theater last night.

Police today received a report that a Mr. Corzett had been thrice held up. However, the burglars didn't get anything, excepting two keys and one white penny for their attempts which have extended over a several months period and always occurred in the report, stated, at Pennsylvania and Long avenues.

Policemen Hanna and Preston last night recovered at an East Side parking lot a car owned by a Mr. Orr of Ford City, stolen recently from Kittanning. It bears state license 742V3.

A thin coating of chromium plating is being applied to U. S. army large and small caliber guns to keep them from rusting.

Says Germany Not To Be Starved Out

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Germany cannot be starved out of the war, Dr. Carl Brandt of Stanford University declared today.

Remarkable adjustments of the food situation have been made in Axis dominated countries and the pinch of hunger will not be as effective as in World War I, Dr. Brandt told the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

He added, however, that postwar food problems will be gigantic.

Trapped Germans Want Ammunition

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—German divisions trapped in the Kaney pocket of the Ukraine wanted ammunition today far more than the promises of relief reportedly being made by Nazi officers.

The Moscow radio, according to Reuter, said the Red army intercepted a radio plea from the troops beseeched aid, declaring: "We are running short of ammunition."

The average depth of the ocean below sea level is 12,450 feet.

Headaches, some types of mental disorder, insomnia, and neurasthenia are eased and given relief by massage.

Six Officials Of Mine Are Facing Charges In Blast

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Six officials of the Moffett and Schrader mine near Pottsville faced court action today on charges of violating mine safety laws in connection with the explosion in which 14 men were killed last September 14.

The defendants, A. J. Schrader, president; George Sukeena, assistant mine foreman; Griffith Davis, contractor; R. E. Watkins, contractor and mine foreman; Robert Miller, assistant mine foreman; and J. N. Farley, general manager, were ordered to appear Monday before Judge James J. Curran.

The warrants were sought by State Mine Inspector Harvey Hilbert, following a coroner's inquest, which revealed the blast was caused by an accumulation of gas due to alleged improper ventilation in the mine.

Headaches, some types of mental disorder, insomnia, and neurasthenia are eased and given relief by massage.

Geographically, Russia, in Asia, is the closest foreign country to North America.

The Altar of Prayer
In these days of stress, strain and striving men feel the need of a Greater Power. Each Sabbath evening after the sermon, we observe quietly, the Altar of Prayer. Thinking that there may be those in our city who do not attend any church regularly, but at times feel the need of Divine help, we invite any such to come and join with us in this time of silent prayer. Let us follow our sons and daughters with our prayers, as they go out to serve us.
The people of the Second United Presbyterian Church cordially invite you to this service.

The Altar of Prayer
In these days of stress, strain and striving men feel the need of a Greater Power. Each Sabbath evening after the sermon, we observe quietly, the Altar of Prayer. Thinking that there may be those in our city who do not attend any church regularly, but at times feel the need of Divine help, we invite any such to come and join with us in this time of silent prayer. Let us follow our sons and daughters with our prayers, as they go out to serve us.
The people of the Second United Presbyterian Church cordially invite you to this service.

Pre-Easter Increase Campaign Planned; Starts February 20
Lawrence County Sabbath School Association has received a number of requests for another pre-Easter increase campaign similar to the ones that have been successfully promoted during the past number of years, and has decided to again use this increase effort with the same goals—an increase in evangelism, an increase in Sunday school attendance, an increase in church attendance and an increase in Bible study.
On account of the boys going in to the service during the past year, the average attendance for the calendar year 1943, will be taken as a base, less 10 per cent for the service men. Every one in attendance during the eight weeks starting with February 20, in excess of last year's average attendance less 10 per cent will be counted as a point.
It is thought that this campaign will be of added value this year, as it will follow up and supplement the visitation census recently taken by many of the churches in the city.

WESTMINSTER COLLEGE PRESIDENT WILL SPEAK
Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, will speak on the Sunday 5 p. m. service broadcast over station WKST sponsored by the New Castle Ministerial Association.

Rev. J. C. Rose To Preach New Series Of Evening Sermons

Congregation Selects Six Topics; First Of Series On Sunday, 'God And War'

Beginning this Sabbath evening the pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, J. Calvin Rose, will preach a series of selected sermons. Last Sabbath there was submitted to the members of the congregation a list of sermon themes from which they were asked to select six.

These were the themes selected: God at War; Dare to be Different; Mind Your Own Business; The Great Fraud; Faithless Wives; For Sinners Only.

Sunday evening Rev. Rose will preach on the theme that received the largest number of requests, namely, "God and War."

At six o'clock the same evening Rev. Rose will address a special vesper service at the Slippery Rock State Teachers College, but will return in time for the evening service in his own church.

METHODIST PROGRAM FOR SPRING UNDER WAY AT EPWORTH CHURCH

Initiation of a special effort embracing the ten weeks beginning on Sunday February 6 and culminating at Easter on April 9 will be launched at Epworth Methodist church on Sunday.

Following a series of sermons preached by Rev. W. A. Thornton in the Epworth pulpit during January in which he stressed that the church must seize the initiative and go on the offensive in a day of unprecedented need and opportunity the Epworth congregation has responded with a characteristic spirit of cooperation.

Since the beginning of the year the church has maintained a fine record. It has already attained some of the goals set to be reached by Easter.

Although the plans are those of the local church they are also an integral part of the program of the Methodist church at large and fit in with what it is seeking to do during this period.

HUNGARIAN BAPTIST EVANGELISTIC WEEK

On Sunday February 6 a week of evangelistic services at the Hungarian Baptist church will open with morning service at the church. Rev. J. Bilka will be in charge.

Girls' choir of the church will sing at each of the evening services under the direction of Lewis Gentsy.

Senatus Romanus Names New Officers

The mid-year graduation at the senior high school made necessary the election of three new officers for Senatus Romanus, the honorary club of the Latin department. Harvey Davis was chosen consul primus at the regular meeting of the club this week. Eleanor Dwyer, scribe, and James Osterling, pro quaestor. At the same election three new conscript members were selected by the club from the classes: Ann Green, Donald Book and Arthur Samuels.

The new officers will be installed at the next meeting, February 15. The conscript members will be initiated at that time, as will also the new Latin honor students whose names were announced at the end of the first semester.

The roster of the club prior to the induction of the new members follows: Lois Ralph, Thelma Bari, Robert Beisham, Linda Cheery, Mary Esther Coates, Harvey Davis, Eleanor Dwyer, Anna Flyak, Shirley Fox, Edith Hares, Joe Jordan, Ray Owac, Sam Salem, Philomena Sparano, Doris Stoner, Don Tanner, Thomas Vogan, Theresa Waljer, Shirley Webber, Pauline Zeigler, Robert Zeigler.

Lawrence County Near Top In State In War Bond Drive

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Berks and Warren counties led Pennsylvania's 67 counties in Fourth War Loan sales today by achieving 78 per cent of their respective quotas.

Adams and Philadelphia counties took second place with 77 per cent each, followed by Lackawanna, 74; Lawrence, 73; Cambria, 71; Dauphin and Green, 69; and Schuylkill, 67.

The percentages include sales to both individuals and corporations. State Chairman G. Ruhland Rebmman, Jr., announced.

Meanwhile, statewide sales to individuals rose to $202,211,268, or 47.8 per cent of the $423,000,000 quota. Corporate subscriptions totaled $485,153,447, or 87.4 per cent of the $555,000,000 state goal. The combined sales equal 70.3 per cent of the over-all $978,000,000 state quota, Rebmman said.

Executives Club Will Hear Woman

Wonders Of Central America To Be Discussed By Senora Jewel De Bonilla

New Castle Executives club will be addressed by Senora Jewel De Bonilla, widow of the late Don Aristides Bonilla, commercial attaché of Costa Rica legation in Washington, at its next dinner meeting, Tuesday evening, Feb. 15.

Senora de Bonilla will discuss "Central America—Wonderland of the Future."

Not only will members hear of the geography and customs of these colorful American republics soon to be open to easy automobile travel from the United States, but they will also learn of some economic facts such as coffee curing, banana growing, sisal plantations, truck raising, mining and the great new agricultural experiment station in Costa Rica.

Members of the Legion Home Association board and stockholders will meet in the home, North Jefferson street, Monday evening February 7, at 8 o'clock, for the annual election of officers, and transaction of any other business which may come before it at this time.

New Castle Lions Club will have its regular meeting, Tuesday at noon, in The Castleton. The speaker will be Findley Wilson, operator of the local airport and C. A. P. instructor. He will tell about the training the Navy fliers receive at his airfield. Lion McCracken asks for a report on all bond sales not previously given.

R. F. CONWAY, Secretary.

Catholic Center Year Old Today

Varied Activities-Program Is Scheduled Throughout Year At Catholic Center

The Catholic Center at North and Beaver streets, is one year old today, but due to the fact that so many of the boys and girls who have participated in the activities of the Catholic Center, are in the armed forces of our country, there will be no formal celebration marking its first anniversary. This announcement was made by Rev. Fr. Francis Paul King, moderator of the center.

During the course of the last year, activities of the center have been manifold. The Catholic grade school football league, which has had two very successful seasons, has established its headquarters at the center. St. Mary's were the champs in 42, and St. Joseph's the champs in 43.

Basketball has progressed with leaps and bounds, and today the center boasts of a Catholic Grade School League, which makes it possible for all the grade school boys of the eight Catholic churches in town to meet one another every Saturday afternoon on the "Hard Wood".

The Reserve League which plays its games on every Friday evening is composed of the Catholic boys of high school age. There are seven teams in this league. The Catholic Varsity plays on Thursday evenings. Saturday evening is reserved for any bona-fide team of New Castle who make arrangements with Mr. Michael Donovan, phone 5196-M. The Catholic girls league play their games on Sunday afternoon.

Among the many other sports enjoyed at the center are, ping-pong, volleyball and badminton; and other organizations and other activities include: Glee club, amateur shows, Delta Gamma Sigma, High School club, dancing, Catholic Boy Scouts and St. Mary's Alumni.

Hospital Staff Meeting Changed

The regular meeting of the New Castle hospital staff will not be held on their usual meeting date, scheduled February 8, but will be held Tuesday, Feb. 15, in their meeting rooms.

This announcement was made from the New Castle hospital today.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Elizabeth Bright, Withrow 54, of Temple City, Calif., a former resident of New Castle, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Garvin, in Riverside, Calif., on February 3.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at Alhambra, Calif., where interment will also take place.

She is survived by her husband, Frank, two sons, Raymond, of Los Angeles, and Wayne in the air corps, now stationed in New Mexico, and one daughter, Mrs. Garvin, and three grandchildren.

She also leaves one sister, Mrs. H. M. Patterson, of New Galilee, and relatives here. She was born in Moravia, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bright.

STOCKHOLM HEARS 47 NAZI GENERALS OUSTED BY HITLER

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Stockholm circles said today they had received confirmation of reports that Hitler dismissed 47 Nazi generals because of "disagreement on eastern front strategy."

Among those "purged," according to a Swedish dispatch to the London Daily Mail, were Field Marshal Ludwig Von Bock, former commander of Nazi forces in Central Russia; and Gen. Franz Von Halder, of the German supreme command.

SERVICE FLAG TO BE DEDICATED AT CHRIST LUTHERAN

At Sunday morning service at Christ Lutheran church there will be formal dedication of a service flag in honor of men of the church who are serving with the armed forces of the United States. Rev. Walter R. Sommerfeld, pastor of the church, will be in charge.

Names of members of Christ Lutheran congregation who are in service are listed on an honor roll in the vestibule of the church.

RETURNS FROM UNCLE'S FUNERAL

Alfred Cartwright, County Line street, has returned home from Pittsburgh, where he went to attend the funeral of his uncle, Robert McCree.

Mr. McCree was well-known in New Castle as grand secretary of the Loyal Orange Institution of the United States of America Inc.

TEN THOUSAND IDLE

DETROIT, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Ten thousand men in 19 Detroit war plants were idle today as the Mechanics' Educational Society of America continued its general strike, despite "back-to-work" orders of the Navy department and the National War Labor board.

A total of 22,000 were idle in Detroit, Toledo and Cleveland, according to an estimate by Matthew Smith, secretary of the M.E.S.A. Union officials predicted 65,000 employees in Michigan and Ohio would be idle by midnight.

According to Smith, the strike is aimed at obtaining representation for the union on various government agencies.

Democrats Pick Myers To Run For U. S. Senate

State Committee Selects Candidates For Primary At Harrisburg Meeting

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Pennsylvania Democrats confidently looked forward today to "victory in 1944" with President Roosevelt and a slate of handpicked candidates endorsed by the 113-member state committee.

Francis E. Meyers, 42-year-old Philadelphia congressman, was nominated by the committee as the party's candidate for the U. S. Senate in the November 7 general election, while U. S. Circuit Judge Charles Alvin Jones, unsuccessful gubernatorial nominee in 1938, was endorsed for the State Supreme Court. The committee also nominated candidates for the Superior Court, state treasurer and auditor general and 12 delegates-at-large to the Democratic national convention.

Meyers, a political adherent of Philadelphia City Chairman James P. Clark, will seek the seat now held by incumbent Senator James J. Davis, Pittsburgh Republican and Jones will oppose Judge Howard Hughes of Washington, named to the $19,500-a-year post by Gov. Edward Martin last December.

Incumbent Superior Court Judge Chester M. Rhodes of Stroudsburg was endorsed for another 10-year term, while Auditor General F. Clair Ross, of Butler, was slated to oppose a Republican in the fight for the Superior Court seat left vacant by the death of Judge Joseph B. Stadfield, of Pittsburgh, December 12.

State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner, of Penn Lake, was nominated to succeed Ross, and Third Assistant Postmaster General Ramsey Black, of Harrisburg, was slated for the treasurership.

New Instructor At New Castle Hospital

Sister Mary Hyacinth To Instruct Nursing Arts At School Of Nursing

Sister Mary Hyacinth of the Felician Order, arrived at the New Castle Hospital School of Nursing to take up her new duties as the new nursing arts instructor.

Sister Hyacinth, a graduate of St. Francis hospital and Duquesne university, in Pittsburgh, was administrator at St. Mary's hospital, McKeesport, for a year before coming here. Sister Hyacinth is also qualified as a Red Cross instructor in home nursing and first aid.

The new instructor replaces Sister Mary Clement of the Vincentian Order, who was the science instructor at the New Castle Hospital School of Nursing since last June, but who has now departed for Monett, Mo., to assume duties in the new Vincentian hospital.

METHOD OF ESCAPE FROM GERMANY IS KEPT AS SECRET

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—(INS)—How he escaped from Nazi-occupied territory after his Flying Fortress was forced down by fire is a deep, dark secret, Staff Sgt. James G. Wilson, 28, said today while visiting his wife on a 20-day furlough.

When he failed to return from a raid last September 6, he was reported "missing." Months later his wife, Anne, received from him a cable saying he was safe in England. Wilson refused to reveal how he escaped because, he explained, the safety of his fellow fliers and their rescuers is involved.

"Strikes and selfish interest reports," he advised, "annoys the boys overseas. They're the ones who are sticking their necks out."

CLAIM U-BOATS INTERCEPT ALLIED LANDING CRAFT

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet reported in a Berlin dispatch today that Allied landing craft have been intercepted by U-boats on the convoy route to Murmansk, Russia.

Disclosing presence of the craft in the midst of a convoy allegedly attacked by German submarines the dispatch said:

"This caused a great sensation and disquiet in Berlin, since it is obvious the landing craft could be used only in operations against Norway."

Machinery Ready For Mustering-Out Action In Nation

Joint War And Navy Department Statement Issued On Provisions Of New Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—A joint war and navy department statement today that machinery already has been set up to carry out provisions of the mustering-out bill which will effect most of the 1,300,000 fighting men and women reservists discharged since Dec. 6, 1941.

Eligible members of the army, navy, marines and coast guard who were released prior to the signing of the bill today by President Roosevelt must apply for his or her discharge pay. Those discharged henceforth will receive their benefits automatically.

The bill provides for payment of $100 to veterans with less than 60 days active service; those with more than 60 days with no foreign service $200, payable in two equal monthly installments; those with 60 days or more and with foreign service $300, payable in three equal monthly installments.

Eligible members of the army, navy, marines and coast guard enlisted veterans will be required to file their applications with the field branch, bureau of supplies and accounts, Cleveland, O.

Enlisted veterans of the marine corps will file applications with the marine commandant, Washington, D. C.

Those discharged from the army should make application to the finance officer, U. S. Army, in the state in which they enlisted or were inducted. These include:

Delaware, New Jersey, Ledger Building, Philadelphia.
Maryland, 222 E. Redwood St., Baltimore.

New York State Court Square Building, 2 Lafayette St., New York.

Ohio, Mutual Home Building, Dayton.

Pennsylvania, Chamber of Commerce Building, Pittsburgh.

SEVENTH WARD

CHURCH GROUP MEETS
FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. George H. Scheidtmann was hostess to members of the Opportunity Circle of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church at her home on West Madison Friday afternoon.

Deviations were led by Mrs. L. M. Wilkison.

Plans were made for the ingathering of the nite boxes during the early part of March.

Mrs. C. E. Dungan and Mrs. W. C. Patterson were in charge of the discussion of the missionary topic, "Interracial Missions."

A nice lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. John G. Fisher and Mrs. H. E. Rhodes, co-hostesses.

Next meeting March 3.

MRS. Q. E. DAVY'S

At the home of Mrs. Q. E. Davy, North Cedar street, members of the McCoy Bible class of the Mahoningtown Methodist church were entertained Thursday evening when there was a good attendance.

Miss Alma Wolverton led the devotional part.

Knitting for the Red Cross society was the evening diversion.

The hostess and the co-hostesses, Mrs. Ruby Arble and Mrs. Harry Wylie, assisted by Mrs. Tom Wallace, served a delicious lunch.

There were three special guests, Miss Ida Schmackel, Mrs. Thomas Dickson and Mrs. Tom Wallace.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. B. Brettell, East Madison avenue.

SON ENTERING SERVICE GIVEN BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. W. T. Jones of 611 Newell avenue entertained at a gathering Thursday evening at her home to honor the birthday anniversary of her son, Paul E. Jones, who will soon enter the U. S. naval service.

Second Class Lawrence Godwin, home on leave, and Mrs. Maud Thompson were special guests.

Games and chat were the diversion of the evening.

At a table graced with a lovely cake and patriotic decorations, the hostess served a delicious lunch.

The honored guest received a number of splendid gifts.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Rev. Clyde Roland, pastor, 9-45 a. m. Bible school, Mrs. W. G. Wilkins, supt.; Miss Thelma Bumbach, pianist, 10-45 a. m. Junior Christian Endeavor, Irene Liverance, leader; 10-45, morning worship, theme of sermon, "Habit Or Superconscious Mind"; Mrs. C. H. Clark, organist. Hard Coal Miners
To Work Sunday

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Reports from throughout the Pennsylvania anthracite region indicated today that the majority of the 73,000 hard coal miners will be in pits tomorrow in compliance with the government's request to ease the fuel shortage.

All mines in the northern fields were slated to be in full operation, but a number of collieries in the lower fields in the Mount Carmel area will be idle. Thirteen mines employing approximately 10,000 workers in that district have voted to disregard the federal request.

The 1400 workers at the Hazleton shaft of the Lehigh Valley Coal company at Hazleton also will be idle.

ODD SUIT FILED
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—(INS)—One of the oddest suits on record in the U. S. District Court at Philadelphia was filed today as Charles Bauman of Pittstown, N. J., claimed $25,000 from two burial casket companies.

The damages were for injuries and shock Bauman said he sustained when his dead wife's body fell out of her coffin as it collapsed at burial services last April. He was hurled to the ground, he asserted.

ST. JOHN'S SODALITY
Sodalists of the Our Lady of Victory Sodalities of St. John the Baptist church, will have their regular meeting in the church rooms, Sunday at 3:30 p. m., prefect Elizabetha Beshere in charge. Sunday morning the girls will receive holy communion at the 10 o'clock mass.

Opposition To New Military Titles Develops

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The administration proposal to create two permanent generals of the armies and two permanent admirals of the navies—highest military titles ever given Americans—faced opposition in the senate today.

A strong movement was reported in the military affairs committee to block permanent promotions for highest ranking officers until after the war. There also were signs of opposition to the naval promotions.

The two new generals of the armies, it was reported, would be Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the army air forces. The two new admirals of the navy would be Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, and Admiral William D. Leahy, President Roosevelt's chief of staff.

Members indicating they may oppose the legislation said in the past the United States has waited until after the war to confer highest ranks. Famous generals who received postwar promotions as admirals were U. S. Grant, John J. Pershing, William T. Sherman and Philip Sheridan.

Sens. Thomas (D) Utah and Truman (D) Mo., said they were inclined to wait until the postwar period for action.

Japanese Diet
Member Makes
Plea For Unity

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The Tokyo radio today broadcast an impassioned appeal by a member of the Japanese diet, urging the Japanese people to "stand united" in the face of fierce battles in the Marshall Islands, New Britain and New Guinea.

This followed a claim by the Japanese Domei agency that Jap garrisons in the Marshalls were "firmly holding the defense sector" after having "repulsed part of the enemy force which landed five days ago."

Still earlier the Tokyo radio had claimed that the Japanese were battling the "remaining U. S. forces" on Roi and Kwajalein Islands "with control of the situation assured."

The diet member, Ichiro Hase, discussing the fighting in the Marshalls, New Britain and New Guinea, admitted the "situation was very serious."

"We must all keep ourselves cool and must mobilize the total strength of the major," he declared. "Planes and other materials need drastic increase in production. The people must be mobilized. The people must be united. Otherwise, we will never succeed."

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The house of commons had the promise today of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King that a full statement on the resignation of Lieut. Gen. Andrew McNaughton as commander of the Canadian army overseas would be made in parliament next week.

The prime minister's promise resulted from direct questions by Gordon Grayson, house leader of the Progressive Conservative party, and M. J. Goldwell, cooperative commonwealth federation leader.

Goldwell asserted that the government "receded upon an excuse of temporary ill health" to secure the resignation of Lieut. Gen. McNaughton. He implied, in an afterthought, that "army politics may have had a great deal to do with the situation."

Parking at home...

With all of its horror, some good can come from war. From the present conflict comes one outgrowth for which we can be devoutly thankful. We are getting acquainted with our homes and with our families. We are "parking" at home for the duration.

Time was when the entire family scattered to the four winds upon the completion of the evening meal. Indeed, an evening was considered lost that did not include several hours of outside pleasure.

Now, all is changed. Instead of dispatching the nightly dinner in three bites and a swallow, the meal is really eaten and enjoyed. Occasional stories given the atmosphere of the dining room.

Yes, we are even giving thought to comfortable, attractive home furnishings . . . the perfect aid to the establishment of a first class family morale. It is astonishing what a transformation can be brought in the family's general esprit de corps by a few well-chosen pieces of furniture. Try it yourself. You'll be delighted. And see us for the suites or single pieces that you may decide to acquire.

Andrews Stars As 'Canes Lose

Jans 20 Points; Aliquippa Too Classy, Garners 42-30 Victory

Taller and equipped with more all-around cage technique, Aliquippa climbed to the top of Section 2 by soundly thumping a courageous but outclassed New Castle high quint 42-30, Friday night on George Washington floor.

In their fourth consecutive defeat, the Canes simply met a sound ball club boasting of height, alertness, speed and a flock of unusually sharp-eyed dribblers. The locals grabbed a 2-0 lead in the opening 10 seconds, lagged after the first minute and spent the remainder of the evening trying to catch the Quips.

The visitors built a 10-6 first quarter edge and soon dumped a cluster of points that left the localites in the rear, 23-7. Andrews got loose for a pair of easy shots under the basket and Wimer contributed a foul to narrow the gap to 23-12 at the half.

Andrews started the third period scoring with a long side blast and repeated a few seconds later to revive the local chances but the Quips came back with nine rapid-fire markers to bolster their advantage to 34-19 as the third ended.

Andrews Big Show
The only bright spot of the evening, so far as the locals were concerned, was the sensational one-man show put on by "Billy" Andrews.

The most aggressive player on the hardwood, the southpaw parked 20 points through the mesh on nine fields and two fouls. Wimer came next with seven, and Bob Preston and E. Jackson divided the remaining three points added by the locals.

Aliquippa fielded at least three top notch performers. George Suder seemed to be the big man, pocketing 15 points in an effortless manner beside playing a near-flawless defensive game. Stoken and Chizmar starred, too. Gilbert, six feet four and half center, handicapped the locals tremendously under the rims.

New Castle remains idle next Tuesday.

MANY PLAYERS MAY BE DECLARED FREE AGENTS BY COMMISSIONER LANDIS

Absorption Of Players After Cessation Of Hostilities
Another Important Topic

By SID MERCER
(International News Service Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—

Baseball's big winter week is ushered in today with a meeting of the joint major and minor league committee on post-war problems and a special session of the International League. The eastern league meets tomorrow, the New York baseball writers throw their big party tomorrow night and the National League holds its annual spring meeting Tuesday.

The postwar committee went into session this morning with Commissioner Landis presiding. This committee consists of four members of the National league, four American league, seven minor league representatives and the presidents of the two major leagues.

Most important war problems are the absorption of players released from the armed services in large numbers after the cessation of hostilities and the rebuilding of the minor leagues. These two issues tie into each other. There will also be considerable discussion of more immediate problems, especially manpower difficulties. The delegates are meeting officially for the first time and today's meeting was to be little more than an exchange of opinions and ideas. The leagues must ratify any action taken.

May Toss Bombshell
It is said that Landis is preparing to toss one of his famous "bombshells" by making free agents of a number of players transferred from minor leagues that suspended operations last year and who subsequently went into service. The commissioner regards those transactions as "cover up" deals.

National leagues on the postwar committee are: Branch Rickey, Brooklyn; Warren Giles, Cincinnati; Sam Breadon, St. Louis; and Leo Benday, New York. Representing the American league are Clark Griffith, Washington; Eddie Collins, Boston; Jack Zeller, Detroit; and Alva Bradley, Cleveland.

The six minor league members held a preliminary meeting yesterday. They are: George Troutman, president, American Association; Charles H. Graham, president, San Francisco club Pacific; Earl Mann, president, Atlantic club; Southern Association; Tommy Richardson, president, Eastern league; Dr. E. M. Wilder, president, South Atlantic league; and Frank Lawrence, president, Portsmouth club, Piedmont league.

New Castle high's reserves easily garnered their 11th victory in 12 games, routing the "Cane grid five" 53-19, Friday night on Washington floor.

Held down to a 7-4 first period count, the tiny Canes pocketed 16 markers in the second stanza. Substitutions played most of the last period.

Whittaker, Koszela and Sallie led the winners while Lewis and Sanfilippo featured for the gridsters.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

International Amateur Athletic Federation as represented by President J. S. Edstrom and Secretary Bo Ekelund, both of Sweden, has recognized four American track and field records, two of them by Fred Wolcott, according to a report from Stockholm, Wolcott, a Rice Institute star turned in a record of 13.7 seconds for the 120-yard hurdles at Philadelphia, June 20, 1941 written into the book alongside that of Forrest G. Towns, former Georgia hurdler who established the marks at Oslo in 1936. Roy Cochrane's 52.2 for the 440-yard hurdles, set at the Drake relays on April 23, 1942, replaced the record held by another American since 1927, Cornelius Warmerdam, only man ever to clear 15 feet, improved on his own international standard with the recognition of his pole vault of 13 feet and 7-3-4 inches at Modesto, Cal., on May 23, 1942. It bettered the 1941 record of two inches. Attne (Continued on Next Page)

Epworths, Rads, St. George Win

St. Lucy's Suffer First Loop Setback; Reed, Thomas De Prospero, Dunlap Star

Epworths, first half champs, moved into first place by subduing St. Lucy's, 43-34. This marked the 12th straight loop win and second of the last half pennant chase.

Reed, Waino and Conners featured for the winners while De Prospero and Conti were standouts for the St. Lucy's quint. At half-time, the Eps led 26-10.

Rads Win, 37-24
National Radiators, handed the Universal Pottery flippers their third consecutive loss, 37-24, in the second fray. At half-time, the rads were deadlocked at 13-13. Thomas and Cherry starred in the Rads' second half drive. Thomas tossed 14 markers during the setto. Dunlap was top man for the losers with 12 points.

St. George walked into second place by gaining a forfeit over the First Baptists.

Notre Dame Cage Pilot Commissioned

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Edward "Moose" Krause, 31, head basketball coach at Notre Dame, will be sworn into the navy as an ensign in Chicago today.

He is expected to report for duty in Florida about March 1.

Westminster College is favored to down the somewhat inept Carnegie Tech cage sons by 21-1 points, according to Dick Dunkel's forecast. The prognosticator lists the Titans as the 21st best quint in the East. Dartmouth heads the parade, followed by undefeated Army. . . . Ambridge high's "take" during the '43 football season was $12,131.24. Expenses lopped off $10,320.84 from the receipts, leaving the Brigades $1,810.40 for the exchequer. . . .

Fritz Nagy currently ranks with the highest scoring collegiate aces in the land. The Akron, O., cage demon shows at New Wilmington a week from tonight when the Titans seek to square accounts with the Ohioans. Earlier, the rubber city aggregation mashed the blue and white ignominiously, 69-44. . . . Chet Waddington, the well known East New Castle grid-cage official, is calling 'em in Florida. The whistle tooter is a corporal. . . .

Winning basketball championships is an old story to Ward "Piggy" Lambert, Purdue coach for the past 26 years. His quints have captured 11 Big 10 titles. . . . Since the close of 1942 major league season, 60 players have been drafted. . . . Joe Vosmik, the ex-big leaguer grazing in Minneapolis, committed only three errors in the Millers' outfield last year. . . . "Bill" Johnson, last season's rookie of the year, goes up for his pre-induction exam Monday. The Yankee third sacker rates a post with the most promising performers to hit the big way in many seasons. . . .

St. Louis' two major league clubs expect to play no more than 25 week day games by daylight this season. . . . If he had his way, Clark Griffith, the 74-year-old Washington Senator prexy, would do away with daylight baseball, excepting on Saturdays and Sundays. . . . John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York mitt commission, is endorsing a measure to permit 17-year-olds to box professionally. The present minimum is 18.

Titans Play Hosts To Tech Tonight

Westminster Heavily Favored To Garner Ninth Victory; Starting Time 8:15

Now ranked as the district's top-notch basketball team, the Tovering Titans of Westminster college try for their ninth win tonight, opposing the winless Tartans of Carnegie Tech on the local hardwood.

Max Haumann's Skibos have improved considerably since their opening game of the present season when the Titans swamped them 61-36 in the Oakland gym. Try as they have, however, the Tartans have been unable to come out on top in a single engagement. At present, their record shows 10 straight losses as compared with eight victories and four setbacks for Westminster.

To Change Lineup
Coach Grover Washabaugh has announced several changes in the blue and white lineup. At forward he will start Chris Wagner, Connelville sophomore, who recently returned to the campus, and Gene Wilson of New Castle. Wilson has seen action in several games as a substitute and has impressed Washabaugh with his speed and accuracy.

Noble Jorgensen, Titan high-scorer, who netted 30 markers against the Pitt Panthers Wednesday night, will hold his usual pivot position. At the guard posts will be Fred Paine and Capt. Don Bennett.

In a preliminary attraction, the 3324 service unit will oppose the United Engineering quintet from New Castle. The feature game is scheduled for 8:15.

DALLASSANDRO 1-A
READING, Pa.—Don Dallassandro, Chicago Cubs' outfielder, has been classified 1-A.

FANNINS TO PLAY SOLDIERS TONIGHT

Game On Catholic Center Hardwood; Camp Reynolds' Lineup Star-Studded

Victories over the highly regarded Youngstown Sheet & Tube aggregation, the Fannins "Big Five" faces another major opponent here tonight, battling the Camp Reynolds Service No. 1 team on Catholic Center floor, corner Beaver and North streets.

The soldiers lineup is packed with collegiate and independent stars. Pfc. Walter Cain played with Norristown high after which he served a hitch in semi-pro ranks; Cpl. Jack Meehan, flipped with LaSalle; Sgt. Lloyd Frasse starred on the Akron high quint which won the state championship in 1935 and 1936 and Sgt. Frank Buscario, ex-Ambridge high star.

Carpenter Favors Return Of Spitball

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Robert R. N. Carpenter, Jr., Phillies president, today went on record as favoring the return of the spitball pitcher.

Carpenter emphasized that he did not believe hitting should be curtailed, but urged that the pitchers have a chance to compete with the lively ball.

"Everyone loves to see the ball sail over the fence," the youthful Phils' executive said, "but when an easy tap of the ball sends it over the outfielder's head, it's time to give the pitcher a lift."

GEO. WASHINGTON STAR
Leslie MacMittell, N. Y. U.'s great miler, achieved individual distinction during his high school days at George Washington when in three different years he won three different titles and made records each time in the National AAU Interscholastic track title meet, scheduled for Madison Square Garden, Saturday, February 26.

Bessemer-Wampum Easy "21" Winners; New Wilmington Cops

Cementers Rip Shenango, 38-16, While Indians Mash Mt. Jackson, 64 To 32

Easy victories by Bessemer and Wampum practically eradicated Mt. Jackson and Shenango Township high from the Section 21 race Friday night.

At Bessemer, the hot Cementers held on to their half game edge over Wampum by crushing Shenango, 38-16, for their seventh success in eight frays.

The East New Castle boys displayed their best brand of ball in the opening chukker, trailing by a 6-5 count. The hosts, however, hit a hot spree to pull away by a 17-10 count and a 28-12 advantage by the end of the third.

Center Johnson, Forward Kresovich and Guard Mehoie paced the victors with 27 points. Kalajainen and Hay featured for the losers.

This marked Shenango's third league loss in eight games. Bessemer's reserves nailed the prelim piece, 25-17.

Indians Go Wild
Counting 37 per cent of their shots, Wampum high's Indians walloped Mt. Jackson, 64-32, at Wampum.

The Indians hit 15 points in the first period and continued their sensational offensive spurt throughout, ringing 15 more in the second and capping the exhibition with a 23-point onslaught in the third.

Bennett and Marich sterling forwards, finished in a dead heat for top honors, registering 20 points apiece. Fox proved Mt. Jackson's best with 14.

Wampum garnered its sixth "21" victory in seven frays while the Jacks suffered their third setback in eight contests.

In the opener, Wampum's seconds eked out a 21-18 decision over the Jack reserves.

Greyhounds Surprise
In the lone upset of the evening, Coach "Tim" Hutchinson's New Wilmington Greyhounds squeaked by Union Township, 21-20, in exciting battle played at New Wilmington.

New Wilmington hopped ahead by a 10-8 count at the half but lagged by a 15-13 margin as the fourth started. The home boys zipped eight points to walk off with their second loop victory.

Coblenz, Phillips and C. Shaffer were high scorers for the winners while Korab ported 15 markers for the top feat of the setto.

New Wilmington's reserves won the prelim.

BROOKERS LOSE TO ZELIENOPLE

Locals Falter In Second Half; Drop 37-31 Decision Here Friday

Zelenople high defeated East Brook, 37-31, Friday night on the East Brook floor.

The Brookers were in the thick of the battle throughout, marching ahead 8-7 in the first but trailing at the half 19-15. The Zels added another point to their lead in the third.

Burkett and Altemus featured for the winners. Wellman and Black highlighted play for the Brookers. Zelenople's reserves copped the preliminary, 36-15.

Faetz Still Leads Petersen Tourney

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The 1,622 score registered by Leo Faetz of Chicago last Tuesday to set the pace in the Petersen Individual Bowling Classic commanded increasing respect today in proportion to the narrowing field of competitors.

Another night's onslaught that failed to disturb the top 10 in the standings of the $22,000 tourney left Faetz that much nearer the $5,000 first prize.

Baseball Needed, Sen. Mead Avows

Believes Game Important
Both To Home Front And
America's Fighting
Men

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS).—Sen. James M. Mead (D. N.Y.)—baseball's most vocal champion in congress—said yesterday it is important both to the home front and America's fighting men for the national sport to continue in 1944.

Commenting on the statement of President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians that he favored suspension if the game fell too far below standards, Mead said if baseball does reach such a low ebb there might be some reason for quitting the game.

Game Will Thrive
"But," he added, "I hope it won't come to that and I don't believe it will. The demand for baseball at home and by troops abroad and the availability of enough players to supply needs in our larger cities, makes me believe that baseball will be a thriving enterprise in 1944."

Mead, who visited the fighting fronts and found soldiers deeply interested in the pennant races back home, believes baseball magnates will be performing a patriotic duty if they keep things going.

"It would be most unfortunate if the game should be suspended," he said. "Baseball is a great morale builder for the services and provides relaxation for our munitions workers."

Gehrig Still Leads Popularity Contest

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS).—With a total of 2,596 votes, the late Lou Gehrig, one of the baseball's most brilliant names, continued to lead the popularity contest of the Sports War Bond committee today.

Gehrig has been leading the list of sports favorites since the beginning of the poll three weeks ago. Each vote represents a $25 war bond.

Ward Cuff, backfield star of the football Giants, with 1,629 votes and Babe Ruth with 1,242 were still in second and third places respectively.

The most startling upsurge was Mel Ott, Giant pilot, who moved into fourth place within the last forty-eight hours, bringing his total up to 1,174.

Pirates' Officials To Attend Session

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—(INS).—Pittsburgh Pirates baseball club announced that President William E. Benswanger, Manager Frank Frisch and other officials will leave for New York over the week-end to attend the annual schedule session of major and minor leagues next Tuesday.

The convention will ratify playing dates already selected by the National and American Leagues. Plans for baseball in the post-war period will be discussed, along with measures affecting the farming system and alterations in playing rules.

Outfielder Ripple Sold To Louisville

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—(INS).—The Athletics roster was cut to 25 players today with the sale of Jimmy Ripple, veteran outfielder, to Louisville of the American Association for an undisclosed sum.

Ripple came to the A's late in the 1943 season, and batted .238 in 32 games.

Anderson's breaking of Gunder Haegg's monopoly on mid-distance records was officially recognized at a mile and 1,500 meters. He established the marks while his fellow Swede was touring this country. Anderson was given credit for his 4:02.6 mile and 3:45 for 1,500 meters. Haegg's standards were 4:04.6 and 3:45.8.

John Franklin Baker, 38 of Trappe, Md., may not be familiar but when one writes Home Run Baker, well, that's different. The third baseman of Connie Mack's immortal $100,000 infield and later star with the Yankees, retired from baseball 20 years ago last month after a career that resulted in his leading the American league in home run production for four seasons and brilliant play in half a dozen world series. He is now a dirt farmer and community leader.

The last of the famous from Evers To Tim Lincecum to Chance baseball combination is unconscious at Orlando and death may take Joe Timmer who was part of the Chicago Cubs famous infield trio from 1902 to 1912. He suffered an attack of influenza that has left him unconscious since January 26.

Ad Thatcher who visited the writer several times before dropping out of fisties is now a city councilman in Toledo according to Frank Plush. Thatcher cooperated with Tex Rickard in promoting the Dempsey vs. Willard fight which Plush witnessed the PD's Golden Gloves in action while in Cleveland recently. There are few boxing bouts which Plush doesn't see while making his rounds as a salesman.

N. C. Slaybaugh reports in the Pennsylvania Game News that the 1942 kill aggregated 14,199,510 pounds or 7,100 tons. Slightly more than 96 percent of the 648,760 licensed hunters filed reports. There were a small drop in reports filed from the years 1941, '40 and '39.

Thirty-seven thousand seven hundred and sixty-two acres of forest covered and mountainous land in northern Dauphin and Lebanon counties has been purchased by the Game commission. No farm land was included. The game tract was bought from the P & R. C. & I Company.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

No. 28
DEPRECIATION (PART 2)

The "useful life" of a property, for Federal income tax purposes, is considered as its term of use for the purpose designed. Complete exhaustion of a property is not required in estimating the annual depreciation, but if it possesses salvage value at the end of the useful life, this value must be taken into account in determining the depreciation rate. Thus, the useful life of a rental building would be its useful rental life, though at the end of that period it may possess scrap or salvage value which must be taken into account. For the guidance of taxpayers, the Bureau of Internal Revenue has prepared a bulletin (Bulletin F) setting forth Bureau practice in regard to depreciation deductions and estimated useful life of various types of property.

After the estimated useful life of the property has been determined, the capital sum to be recovered may be charged off over the period, either in equal annual installments or in accordance with any recognized trade practice. The amount so charged off must be used to reduce the cost (plus any additions and betterments) or other basis at which the depreciable property is held, and if the property is subsequently sold or exchanged, that reduced basis becomes the adjusted basis for determining the gain or loss on the sale or exchange.

If it is clearly shown that, because of economic or other conditions, property must be abandoned at a date prior to the end of its normal useful life, so that depreciation deductions alone are insufficient to return the cost or other basis, a reasonable deduction for obsolescence may be allowed in addition to depreciation.

As stated above, depreciation allowances are based upon the cost "or other basis." If the property was acquired by purchase after February 28, 1913, the cost is the basis. If acquired by purchase prior to March 1, 1913, the basis is the cost of the property less depreciation sustained prior to March 1, 1913, or the fair market value on March 1, 1913, whichever is greater. If the property was acquired by gift after December 31, 1920, the basis is the same as it would have been in the hands of the donor or the last preceding owner by whom it was not acquired by gift.

While land is not ordinarily depreciable an allowance corresponding to depreciation, known as depletion, is permitted in the case of mineral property from which minerals (including oil) are being extracted. In the case of certain farming operations, requiring expenditures to maintain the productivity of the soil such as orchards where regular replanting must be practiced, or farm land requiring periodic clearing or drainage or application of fertilizer, depreciation deductions to recover the sums expended may be permitted in accordance with the exhaustion of value, if the amount so expended in developing the property for use is treated as a capital expenditure.

STOCKS

MIXED RANGE IN TRADING OF DAY

Some Stocks Recover Partially From Declines Of Past Two Sessions

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS)—A few isolated stocks managed to recover partially from the losses of the last two sessions today, but the rest of the market moved in a mixed range in dull, listless dealings.

Rails and utilities generally had a firm undertone, while industrials were little changed.

Trading picked up slightly after a lull of 100,000 share first hour. Issues moving higher were generally aided by special considerations.

Liquors, weak yesterday, came back slightly. American Distilling, which has dropped almost 8 points yesterday, on the imposition of a ceiling price on its liquor dividend, recovered more than a point, while Park & Tilford, off over 3 yesterday, showed a similar gain.

Steels were firm as were aviation and coppers. Rubbers, oils and farm equipments were easier, while communications and motors were steady. Rustless Iron, in demand, lately, was up fractionally.

Bonds were steady in quiet dealings. The curb market followed the listless trend of the big board.

Two Held By Nazis Since 1942 Retaken By Allied Forces

Two Soldiers Of India, Captured in Libya, Fall Into Allied Hands in Italy

By GRAHAM HOVEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

AN AMERICAN FIFTH ARMY OUTPOST NEAR CASSINO, Feb. 2.—Delayed—Two soldiers of India, who were captured by the Germans in Libya in 1942 and subsequently served the Wehrmacht as orderlies in the hope of escaping to allied lines, realized that ambition today with assistance of a band of American infantrymen.

After surviving 17 days and nights of American bombing and shelling in embattled Cassino, the two Indians—Cpl. Ghar Singh Yadav and Pvt. Umed Singh—were captured all over again by American doughboys who also bagged a batch of German prisoners after bitter street fighting in the northeast outskirts of the city this morning.

"We are very glad to be on the allied side again," they said on their arrival at this American outpost less than a mile from Cassino.

Germans Suffer Heavily

Cpl. Yadav, who served as a gunner in an anti-tank regiment prior to his capture at Mersa Matruh in June 1942, said the German defenders of Cassino had suffered heavy casualties from the American bombardment, and were very discouraged.

The polite, 27-year-old native of Manohar, 40 miles from Delhi, said: "All the German soldiers are disheartened because they are fighting for many years and are tired of fighting. They too much bombardment."

"Whenever we had the opportunity, we told the men to put up their hands and give up to the allies and that the war would then be over very soon."

"German food is sufficient thus far," said Yadav.

"We had just taken food to some German soldiers in a trench when one of your soldiers shouted 'hands up'. There were 11 of us in the trench—nine Germans and the two of us."

"The Germans seemed to understand the command, and they didn't shoot at all. They dropped their arms and came out with their hands up just as we did."

SENTENCE COURT

Judge John G. Lamoree held court alone on Friday morning, due to Judge W. Walter Braham's absence in Philadelphia.

Four sentences were handed down by Judge Lamoree.

M. R. Frank was placed upon probation for one year and ordered to pay $50 for unlawfully receiving, recording and forwarding bets on horse races.

Harry Shull, unlawfully carrying firearms, was fined $1 and costs and drew 90 days to the county jail.

John Richfield, up on three counts of burglary and receiving stolen goods, was sentenced to the Pennsylvania industrial school at Camp Hill.

Robert Henry Ulan, up on two counts of larceny of a motor vehicle and receiving stolen goods and driving a car without the consent of the owner, was sent to the industrial school at Camp Hill.

UPSETS REVOCATION

In an order and opinion handed down Friday, Judge W. Walter Braham sets aside a revocation of a driving license ordered by the Department of Revenue and declares invalid a judgment secured in an Allegheny county court against Jesse F. Gehrken.

Back in 1940 Gehrken was in an accident in which an employee of the Lee C. Moore Co. was also a victim. The Moore company sued Gehrken in the court of Alderman Margaret Morgan of Sewickley and got a judgment which Gehrken refused to pay.

The secretary of revenue thereupon revoked the driving license of Mr. Gehrken.

The case was appealed to the courts here and Judge Braham found that the information issued by the alderman was for a civil suit, in which a Lawrence county constable served the information. This

Arrest 63 Persons In Police Raids At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Sixty-two men and a woman were under arrest today after city police, and state agents and military police raided eight saloons and a club as an aftermath of charges by Safety Director George Fairley that the Liquor Control Board was condoning illegal operation of drinking places.

A notorious North Side saloon in which brawls were frequent and where a man was slain was among the spots raided. Minors and some soldiers were reported seized.

At the Lega Calabrese Club, police said, a lot of war workers were viewing an obscene film. Thirty-two were seized there.

William T. Gelder, director of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, had his agents join in planning the raids after clashing with Fairley on the safety director's charges.
